

Call him Swami

In calling him by name you won't disrespect him – repeatedly call Swami Swami because Swami means God. How true hundred years back a mother had named Swami. Coincidence is a rare commodity. In birth, by just a name he became God and now in death we are compelled to call him God. Anyone who gives food to our children's children is God. So call him Swami Swami and you will realize you are not calling – but you are praying.
