

Job description for consultants:Consultant 1:

A postgraduate in Foods and Nutrition will work as a research assistant on a short-term nutrition project

Postgraduation in public health/community nutrition or any other relevant subject with a minimum of two years of experience in community development/research programs. Knowledge of research methodology especially qualitative and quantitative data collection and analysis, and literature review is essential. Knowledge of Excel and SPSS is desirable.

Consultant 2:

A postgraduate in social science, public health, or community medicine to work as a research assistant in a short-term health research project.

Postgraduation in public health or any other relevant subject with a minimum of two years of experience in community development /research programs. Knowledge of research methodology especially qualitative and quantitative data collection and analysis, and Literature review is essential. Knowledge of Excel and SPSS is desirable.